Being Grateful When Life is Exhausting

I have an ever-changing written to-do list on my desk in my home office. And I look at this list often as I try to keep up with all of the church tasks I have to do in between homeschooling our daughters, taking our newborn to doctor appointments, running errands, and other household chores. One afternoon, I was away from my desk for a couple of hours holding my newborn son, Ford. When I returned to my desk to finish up some work, I looked down at one of my church to-do lists – pray for a congregant, write an article, finish sermon. And there in the margin, written in the handwriting of my oldest child, was a note she had snuck onto my busy to-do list, a list that felt overwhelming and long. There in the margin was the sentence, “I love you, Dad.”

We are overwhelmed, distracted, and exhausted. I’m not sure it is very easy for us to think about gratefulness. And since gratitude hasn’t been on my to-do list, I opened my Bible and flipped over to the words of the apostle Paul who struggled, like we are struggling today. “Therefore, we do not lose heart. Though outwardly we are wasting away, yet inwardly we are being renewed day by day. For our light and momentary troubles are achieving for us an eternal glory that far outweighs them all. So, we fix our eyes not on what is seen, but on what is unseen, since what is seen is temporary, but what is unseen is eternal.” (2 Corinthians 4:16-18 NIV)

The Apostle Paul wrote these words in about 55 CE. You see, the Corinthian church was going through a lot of division, disagreement, and polarization. Sounds familiar, right? But they found a way to work it out, to get through it together. And when they did, they began working for the common good. They began to be grateful for their lives in the faith and grateful for one another. And when they became grateful, they became generous. The apostle Paul talked about the generous churches in the region of Macedonia, largely foreign Christians of different cultures, who gave to their Christian counterparts of Jewish heritage in Jerusalem. Paul exhorted these Corinthian believers to make their own donations to the good work happening there. And, when people started to give, two things happened: They gave generously beyond their financial abilities and these people of faith gave their money across racial and national lines. That is the kind of generosity and gratitude I hope we can begin to experience in our nation and our world this holiday season.

What is your gratitude story? It is my hope that we don’t have to force it, or strain for it, or fake it. Maybe our gratitude story is to simply look in the margins of our lives and affirm the places of hope that remain outside of our busy to-do lists, our deep depression, and our overwhelming exhaustion. I wonder what it would be like if we looked in the margins of our lives, this day, to where God has written on our hearts and our spirits, “I love you...”

Message from the Intro to the 2020 Advent Devotions:

Many of us are keenly aware of our need for spiritual engagement this Advent season. During volatile periods like 2020, our spiritual fuel is being burned to the maximum each day. We are stretched and challenged, needing God’s sustaining power on a regular and consistent basis. Biblical accounts such as the Exodus take on new meaning because we know what it is like to pass through the wilderness. Perhaps more than ever, we need Advent this year.

We are delighted to offer this Advent devotional guide for your personal and communal use. We enjoyed crafting these devotionals and found the strength of the Lord seeping into our homes as we engaged scriptures, offered prayers, and put pen to paper (or fingers to keyboard). We hope that our experience will be replicated many times over as you engage with this devotional guide during the Advent season....

We pray the daily reflections and worship resources will enrich your spiritual journey as individuals and as faith communities over these weeks. We eagerly anticipate engaging with you and your church as we await Christ’s appearing in ourselves and in our churches in 2021.

Blessings to you during this season of preparation, anticipation, and holy waiting.

Be Not Afraid

Advent – 2020

It feels as if 2020 has been a year filled with fear. Yet, messengers throughout the Bible sought to comfort the people of God by telling them to not be afraid. It was a word that those looking for a Messiah and birthing Divine Love needed to hear. And we need to hear it too. The theme for this Advent Season at Royal Lane is "Be Not Afraid." Maybe God is telling us this year, as we wait with trepidation and anticipation, to offer up our fears to the divine and to hear God's comfort in the angel voices: "Do not be afraid."

November 25 – Advent Hymn Sing – 6:30 pm — Zoom

Join David Weigle and Harry Wooten for an Advent/Christmas and Thanksgiving hymn sing to begin preparing our hearts and spirits for Advent. We will post a link of texts for this Zoom meeting and we will all sing for the very first time our 2020 Advent Hymn, "Be Not Afraid" written for Royal Lane by composer and lyricist, Michael Glenn Dell.

Advent Afternoons

Royal Lane YouTube Channel

Each Tuesday afternoon of Advent at 4:00 pm we will present organist Jonathan Gregoire playing a brief mini concert on our Royal Lane, Dan Garland pipe organ, Opus 50. Jonathan will feature Advent music and speak about the pieces and their connection to our Advent season.

JONATHAN M. GREGOIRE

jg@jonathangregoire.com | www.jonathangregoire.com

Praised for his “top-notch technique and musicianship” by the Dallas Morning News, Jonathan M. Gregoire is an imaginative keyboardist and advocate for the power music has to transform lives. Gregoire brings his passion for music, intuitive gifts for the healing powers of the arts, and warm charisma to his creative output. As a soloist, his engaging performances are praised for their “unfailing drive, energy, and expression,” with equal parts style and flair. As a collaborative artist, his elegance and facility at both the piano and the organ are further augmented by his sensitivity and innate ability to support and lead from the keyboard. He supports congregational and choral singing as the organist at St. Andrew United Methodist Church in Plano, Texas. As an educator, Gregoire is driven by the belief that through education we promote understanding, and with understanding we can foster appreciation. With this belief, he founded and serves as the Executive Director of the Arts Foundation of St. Andrew, which is dedicated to “enriching spirituality through the power of the arts.” Additionally, he is the faculty accompanist for the Greenhill School in Addison and Plano West Senior High School, nurturing a love for music in the lives of the students and choirs he supports.
